THE BIRDS OF KILLINGWORTH

"You can call them thieves and pillagers; but know,
They are the winged wardens of your farms,
Who from the cornfields drive the insidious foe,
And from your harvests keep a hundred harms;
Even the blackest of them all, the crow,
Renders good service as your man-at-arms,
Chushing the beetle in his coat-of-mail,
And crying havoc on the slug and snail."

Excerpt from The Birds of Killingworth

"Tales of a Wayside Inn"

by HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW.

An early conservation poem, 1863

JULY U. C. CAMPUS — TRIP

On Saturday, July 28th, thirty members and friends met at the west entrance of the University and hiked thru the campus, up Strawberry canyon to the Botanical gardens, under the leadership of Arthur H. Myer. The weather was perfect, cool for hiking and warm and sunny at lunch time.

The following 36 birds were seen or heard;

Red-tl. and sparrow hawk; Calif. quail; mourn. dove; Anna and Allen hummingbird; bltd. kingfisher; red-sh. flicker; hairy and downy woodpecker; west. wood pewee; olive-sd. flycatcher; cliff swallow; Stellar and scrub jay;

ch-bk. chickadee; pl. titmouse; bush-tit red-br. nuthatch; wren-tit; robin; olive-bk. (russet) thrush; Hutton vireo; pileo. warbler; Brewer blackbird; bk.-hd. grosbeak; purple and house finch; pine siskin; Amer. and lesser (gr.-bk.) goldfinch; sp. and br. towhee; Ore. junco; wh.-cr. and song sparrow.

AUGUST — DUMBARTON BRIDGE — TRIP

On Sunday, August 12th about 34 members and guests, some from San Jose and Santa Clara met at the east approach of the Dumbarton Bridge, for a warm sunny day of bird observation.

The numerous phalaropes seen last year near the K. G. O. grounds had located this year, in the pools to the west of the toll plaza, so were seen only by those who came or went that way.

The Caspian tern colony was again visited and many young in all stages of development were observed. Only two eggs were seen at this late date, and these were probably infertile.

Habitat limitations held the list down to 46 species as follows;

Eared grebe	Killdeer	Black tern
Pied-billed grebe	Black turnstone	Hummingbird (sp.?)
White pelican	Long-billed curlew	Pewee (?)
Double-cr. cormorant	Hudsonian curlew	Horned lark
Great blue heron	Willet	Barn swallow
Black-cr. night heron	Spotted sandpiper	Cliff swallow
American egret	Least sandpiper	Loggerhead shrike
Snowy egret	Western sandpiper	House sparrow
Pintail	Godwit	Western meadowlark
Shoveller	American avocet	Bicolored blackbird
Scaup	Northern phalarope	Brewer blackbird
Turkey vulture	California gull	House finch
Marsh hawk	Bonaparte gull	Savannah sparrow
Sparrow hawk	Forster tern	White-crowned sparrow
Ringed (semipalm) plover	Caspian tern	Song sparrow
Black-bellied plover

SEPTEMBER LAKE MERCED TRIP

On Saturday, September 15, to Fleishhacker Playfield and Zoo, Lake Merced and probably other areas in southeastern San Francisco. Meet at the entrance to Playfield at 8:30. The "L" car is the best approach. Leader Edward A. Mayers, WE. 1-2447. Bring binoculars, telescope, lunch if desired, and interested friends.

SEPTEMBER BAY FARM ISLAND TRIP

On Sunday, September 30, to Bay Farm Island, Alameda. This is undoubtedly the best place in the Bay area for shore birds. Meet at Lincoln Park (Santa Clara and High Streets) in Alameda at 12:30 (standard time), or if you bring lunch, at 11:45. From San Francisco take "O" bus at 11:30. Leader, Mrs. Junea W. Kelly, LA. 2-7084. Bring lunch if desired, binoculars, telescope, and interested friends.

A. LAURENCE CURL, Field Trips Chairman
